Don't Rush Enrollment

Have you heard you must be insured by December 15 to avoid the Obamacare penalty for being uninsured? This is a false deadline. Due to one of the nine exemptions in the law, you can’t be penalized for being uninsured for any two consecutive months during the year. Again, you can be uninsured for two consecutive months once during the year without being penalized.

In addition, your penalty (if you don’t or can’t claim an exemption) is pro-rated according to the number of additional months you go uninsured. Each month costs 1/12 of the total possible penalty. The December deadline is being used to instill fear and compliance. Consider waiting until after Inauguration Day to make a decision.
