Rules and Regs by the Hundreds

Here’s Twila Brase, President of CCHF, with today’s Health Freedom Minute.

The Obama administration has just released five Obamacare regulations.

One regulation regards the minimum loss ratio. Don’t worry about what it means. I am using this regulation to show how regulators write most of the laws in this country. The words ‘minimum loss ratio’ appear just six times in the 2700-page Obamacare bill. In total, only 314 words even relate to this topic.

But the regulation is another story. It is 20 pages long. The words ‘minimum loss ratio’ appear just 9 times, but its abbreviation “MLR” appears 246 times.

Clearly, bureaucrats, not Congress, now impose most of the laws on We the People.
