Zuckerberg Collective Vision For the World

I encourage everyone to read Mark Zuckerberg’s open letter to see the deep collectivist and global mentality of the person in control of Facebook. The letter mentions “collective” or “collectively” three times. It mentions “world” 20 times but never mentions America.

Zuckerberg makes various troubling claims that start with “our society has an obligation” or “our society must do this” or “we have a responsibility as a society.” He’s not talking about his family. He’s telling you and me that he thinks we’re responsible for in the world. And that he’s going to spend $45 billion to make his vision a reality. More tomorrow.
