Obamacare Plans are Less than Meets the Eye

Last month, Obama told Americans, “What we’re also discovering is that health insurance is complicated to buy.” Seriously?? HHS Secretary Kathleen Sebelius, head of the Obamacare operation, is the former insurance commissioner of Kansas. She knew the complications.

These complicated decisions are not easy to make on the Obamacare Exchange. You may not know what you’re buying or what you’re not getting. You can see the premium costs but you need to look carefully at drug coverage, physician and hospital access, and out of pocket costs. This is expensive restricted government health care. The exchanges are a lobster trap. Once in, they have your data. They have you. Don’t go near them.

“What We’re Also Discovering is That Insurance Is Complicated to Buy.” Rich Lowry, National Review, November 14, 2013.
