ACA Auto Enrollment is Self Serving

President Obama is so desperate to keep the current Obamacare enrollees that he is willing to put these enrollees into financial jeopardy. Obamacare coverage ends on Dec 31 unless people re-enroll. Obama can’t afford to lose the 7 million enrollees, so next Monday, December 15, everyone with Obamacare who hasn’t re-enrolled themselves will be automatically re-enrolled by the government whether they want to be or not.

For many people this will mean higher costs and potential trouble with the IRS regarding subsidies. The administration’s decision to re-enroll people into government health care without their consent is self-serving, not a service to the public. This is another display of government health care at work.

FROM POLITICO: “The insurance industry is focusing first on the 7 million who need to reenroll. People who don’t take steps to reenroll — or to specifically opt out — by Dec. 15 will get automatically reenrolled. But they can often get a better deal — and a more accurate subsidy — if they update their information and shop around.” – PoliticoPro, November 12, 2014 (subscription required)
