Dems Reluctant to Undermine ACA

If your insurance policy has been cancelled you may be able to renew it. On November 14, President Obama said he would allow current policies to be re-issued…but only if States and insurers agree. His decision is illegal under Obamacare, but the result has been interesting. Twenty-one states with Republican governors have let policies be reissued. Democrat-led states are more reluctant saying the president’s decision will undermine the law by keeping people out of the Obamacare Exchange.

You see, that’s the whole point of the law: forcing you and everyone you know into the exchange, Obamacare’s single-seller system. Insurers will have the final decision. Ask your insurer to let you keep your policy.
