January 14, 2014

Beware the Deductible

Few knew how unaffordable the “Affordable Care Act” could get. This year most Americans will find out. Federal officials initially tried to hide Obamacare’s premium prices to prevent sticker shock. But the premium prices are only the beginning of unaffordability.

Beware the deductible. One couple only has to pay $54 a month in premiums, but told The Wall Street Journal their savings account will be wiped out “because of the deductible.” Family plan deductibles at the lowest end can cost $12,700 a year. Obamacare will plunder wages and wealth for both coverage and care. Consider joining a health sharing group at less cost for more care.
