January 22, 2014

Hackers in the HIX

One CNN commentator called our Refuse to Enroll campaign obstructionist. But the true obstructionists are the bureaucrats. Even though obstructing a congressional investigation is a crime, HHS officials refuse to share documents with the House Oversight Committee regarding data security of Healthcare.gov. (Health Insurance Exchange or HIX)

They don’t trust the committee to keep the information secret. They insist the website is secure. But Internet security expert John McAfee told Fox News that data security is nonexistent, and hackers could empty enrollees’ bank accounts. Let that sink in. Go to Refuse2Enroll.org and opt out.