The Obama Enrollment Propaganda Machine

The Obama team is engaged in propaganda tactics. Consider their assertions about exchange enrollment. They are full of obfuscation and exaggeration. The administration has claimed enrollment figures for people who are merely signed up with an account on the website, not people who have actually chosen and paid for coverage.

Second, of those signed up, how many are people who had perfectly good insurance until Obamacare cancelled it? These are not the previously uninsured. Third, Obama’s team heralds a huge uptick in Medicaid enrollment, but doesn’t tell us how many of them enrolled above and beyond the usual monthly enrollment that’s been happening for years. Where is the truth?
