White House Pedals Obamacare Propaganda

Last week, the Obama Administration ended the year by pedaling propaganda on their website. The White House blog posted an article called, "Eight Ways the Health Care Law Helps You."

I issued 8 tweets, one for each mistruth. For instance, the White House says more people have coverage, there are more doctors, Medicare is strengthened and we have access to free preventive care.

Please. People are losing coverage as insurers disappear. Doctors are threatening to leave medicine. There's no such thing as free care. And the law cut a half trillion dollars from Medicare and enacted two rationing committees. Obamacare is bad. And that is the truth.
