The Shape Shift Strategy

What will your employer do? Obamacare requires companies with 50 or more fulltime employees to offer health insurance or pay a fine. Full-time is 30 hours or more. Smaller companies will likely cut worker's hours to only 29 hours, lay off workers, hire no more than 49 workers, sell the company or shut down.

Or they could replace employees with corporations. In short, keep a core group of strategic employees for the big picture stuff and outsource everything else to other companies. This is called a Protean Corporation, a business that can shape shift quickly like a one-cell organism. So even if you like your job, you might lose it.

"To Outsmart ObamaCare, Go Protean," Paul Christiansen, The Wall Street Journal, January 29, 2013.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens' Council for Health Freedom.
