Truth About Obamacare Enrollment

The Obama administration is crowing about the 11.4 million people enrolled in Obamacare. Don’t believe it. Many enrollees will not pay for their coverage. One insurance expert says the number will drop to 10.5 million initially and then 9 million.

Two years ago, the Congressional Budget Office estimated that there would be 13 million enrollees this year and 22 million next year. If the administration loses the King vs. Burwell case, enrollment may drop to 4 million. Recall that the pricing of Obamacare coverage, and the financing for the entire exchange operation depends on enrollment. And right now, it doesn’t look good. But if you love health freedom, it looks very, very good.
