Jon Stewart Worries About Obama's Exchange

Last week, HHS Secretary Sebelius was interviewed by Jon Stewart on The Daily Show. Jon is a liberal, but the interview showed that he is worried about how President Obama's government "exchanges" will impact employer health insurance. He asked if employees would be "dumped" into the exchanges.

He asked if Obama's exchanges would become a "back door" toward "government responsibility for health care." He even mentioned a takeover, wondering aloud if health insurance would be decoupled from employment and the U.S. would suddenly become Sweden. Jon Stewart is thinking more like an employee and less like a liberal. This is bad news for Obamacare and good news for the rest of us.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens' Council for Health Freedom.
