Obama Destroys Conscientious Protections

The Obama administration is willfully destroying the right of conscience in America. A year ago, the administration changed the conscience protection rule for health workers, dropping it from 32,000 words to just two hundred nine words, stripping most conscience protections from law.

Last month, the administration issued a rule forcing all employers, except for a very few, to offer contraceptive services in their employee health plan. This includes sterilization and pills that cause abortion. Employers and employees will be forced to pay for services that violate their conscience. To meet his political agenda, President Obama is doing the unthinkable – forcing citizens to support the very thing they abhor.
