Health Sharing to Escape Obamacare

Three Health Sharing Organizations exist in the U.S. They are all Christian organizations and none are insurers. Several years ago, I did a report on health sharing, including a chart comparing the three groups. It's a little dated now, but one of the groups used our comparison chart as a template to do their own update of our information. Bottomline, members share each other's medical expenses.

For instance, every month Samaritan Ministries directs each member where to send their monthly check. The members in need get hundreds of letters with checks to pay for their medical care. Health sharing is special, and members are exempt from the Obamacare mandate and penalties. I encourage you to check it out.
