One Week Left to Resist Obamacare Enrollment

Open enrollment in Obamacare ends in one week, on Monday March 31. This means you have one more week to resist the siren call of government dependency and taxpayer-funded subsidies. This means you have seven days left to do everything possible to discourage everyone you know not to enroll in Obamacare. The next open enrollment period starts in November.

The government exchanges are Obamacare implementation centers. They will track your insurance status and impose federal controls on doctors and federal limits on patients. They feed off the finances of enrollees. Without their premiums, exchanges will not survive. Protect health freedom. Refuse to enroll in Obamacare.
