Let's Not Do a Pelosi

Remember when Speaker Nancy Pelosi said Congress would have to pass the Affordable Care Act so we could find out what was in it? Last week, House Republicans were in full-tilt negotiations over the GOP leadership’s bill to replace Obamacare. But those negotiations and last-minute horse-trading mean few Americans even know what’s in the bill.

In fact, the day before the planned vote, one policy researcher discovered language that would leave seven million veterans without the subsidies everyone else would get. The GOP should try full repeal. Everyone would know what was in the bill. All 2,700 pages of Obamacare and 40,000 pages of regulations would be gone. What would you think of that?
