Exchanges - Limiting Your Choices

Obama's exchanges will limit your choices. Legislators give amazingly ridiculous reasons for why our choices should be limited. For instance, one Democrat gave the following example to explain limiting insurance options on the government exchange. She said that if she walked into a grocery store and there were too many choices of soup she'd probably leave without any soup.

Another legislator said he thought it reasonable to limit the public's choices to a manageable 56 plans for individuals. What if you prefer one of the hundred plans no long available? This is one more reason why the Exchange is not a marketplace. Don't forget to check out our new billboard at NOTaMarketplace.com.
