Economists Shred Obamacare Myths

In a brief to the Supreme Court, 215 economists decimate four Obamacare myths. I’ll tell you the myths, and on our website you can find the truth. Myth number one: Obamacare supporters say health care is different than any other marketplace so it has different rules. Number 2: because health care is so unique, allowing extraordinary federal interference won’t set any bad precedents for other markets.

Number 3: there no non-consumers of health care, so everyone is “active” in the market. And myth number four: failing to be insured imposes large costs on the more responsible members of society. Go to today’s health freedom minute on our home page to find the truth.
