IRS Wants $67 Million to Enforce Obamacare

The IRS is the enforcer of Obamacare and it wants more money.

President Obama's $4 trillion budget for next year includes a $2 billion boost to the IRS budget and the addition of 9,280 full-time employees. This includes $67 million and 483 new employees to specifically enforce the 46 new Obamacare tax provisions. The IRS also requests $301 million to hire nearly 3,000 additional staff to answer people's Obamacare tax questions.

Keep in mind: this is the same agency that targeted conservatives and is illegally doling out Obamacare premium subsidies in 37 states.
