Exchange Coverage is Government Coverage

A physician executive at Walgreens says, “Health care reform essentially makes health insurance an individual purchase.” Indeed. Obamacare will force almost everyone into individual coverage. That’s because it will try to force most people to buy on the government exchange where every member of the family may get a different government-designed Obamacare plan.

But all Exchange coverage is government health care on a sliding fee scale. You can’t get Obamacare without your employer or you filling out a federal application that gives the government access to almost everything private about you except your private thoughts. The exchange is government health care. Refuse to use it.
