Obama Administration Encourages Obamacare Fraud

The Government Accountability Office – or GAO – says there is high risk of fraud due to the administration’s lack of proper controls on Obamacare and premium subsidy eligibility.

The GAO found almost half a million 2014 applications with still unresolved inconsistencies. This means $1.92 billion in associated premium subsidies to people who may not be eligible. The Administration told the GAO they have no plans to terminate coverage for many of these enrollees because they don’t consider lack of a Social Security number an inconsistency that must be resolved. This is no April Fool’s joke. It’s beyond time for another president.
