One Exchange - 50 Portals

There’s only one Obamacare exchange and it’s National. State exchanges work for the federal government to collect and report data, to expand dependency, and to enforce the individual mandate. The name of the application form that all exchanges must use is called the Streamlined Application for the Health Insurance Marketplace. The health insurance marketplace. Just one.

Of course it’s not a marketplace, it’s the government. But the point is Obama’s Exchange is a national exchange; a federal command and control center with 50 state-based website portals on a central server. You can stop it. Without sufficient enrollees, it’s financially unsustainable. No exchange; no Obamacare. Refuse to use it.
