Obamacare Experiments on Medicare Patients Begin in April

The Obama Administration is conducting a medical experiment. Obamacare’s “Innovation Center” requires 800 hospitals in 67 metropolitan areas to participate in a program that puts Medicare patients at risk.

For knee or hip replacements, hospitals that spend more for an “episode of care” than government dictates must pay the money back. Will patients end up with cheaper metal in their joints? The episode covers most care for 90 days after discharge, even if it has nothing to do with the joint replacement.

Medicare promises to warn seniors so they can go elsewhere, but when your hip is fractured, where will you go? And what ambulance will take you to a hospital outside the metro area?
