Why Does Your Doctor Have Computerized Medical Records?

Why do we have electronic health records? You might think that these EHRs are as wonderful as your smart phone, but you’d be wrong. One physician recently told me they’re “terrible.” They impede patient care. We have EHRs because Obama and the Democrats forced all doctors to use them or face penalties. EHRs are made for data collecting and billing, not patient care.

These computerized records are the foundation of Obamacare. Your doctor can be tracked, penalized and controlled by the federal government and its health plan collaborators. That’s why doctors spend twice as much time inputting data as talking to you, examining you, or thinking about your condition. They’re working for the government, not you.
