Child Euthanasia Now Law in Belgium

Belgium has a new law allowing child euthanasia. Adult euthanasia was first legalized 12 years ago and now 1,400 people are killed each year in Belgium, including people with anorexia and depression. This new law will make Belgium the first country to authorize euthanasia without any age limit.

The child must have a terminal illness, unbearable suffering and a “capacity of discernment.” These can all be subjective matters. Imagine a child directed by his parents or doctors to ask for euthanasia, a term he cannot even spell? How quickly death has become valued over life and how shameful and unethical are the physicians that have hurried to the death knell and left life in the lurch.
