Obamacare Two-Year Checkup

The president talks up the benefits of Obamacare, but the people aren’t buying it. The Heritage Foundation just published “The Obamacare Two-Year Checkup,” which shows a lack of participation in Obamacare programs.

For instance, only 7 percent of 4.4 million eligible small businesses have claimed the available tax credit. Only 49 thousand (48,879) people have signed up for the pre-existing condition program. They expected 350,000. Only two states have expanded Medicaid. And only 3.6 million of 46 million seniors took advantage of the Medicare drug discounts. Clearly the people are not as thrilled as the president with the programs in Obamacare.
