April 7, 2016

Do you Have a Signed Refusal for Organ Donations?

Did you know your body parts can be donated without your consent?

The 2006 Uniform Anatomical Gifts Act, which has been enacted by most states, has a prioritized list of 10 classes of individuals who, if they are “reasonably available” at the time of your death, can donate your body parts if you don’t have a signed refusal on record, or if they don’t know you have a signed refusal.

Family members can’t revoke your donation even if it’s your dying wish. If you want to revoke it, you must do it in writing or communicate the wish to two adults, one of whom must be a disinterested witness. Think about that, and consider putting your refusal in writing if you’re concerned.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.

The Health Freedom Minute is now heard in 42 states: Mornings M-Th at AM1280 (The Patriot) in MN and 91.5 AM WHKC (FreedomFM) in OH, afternoons on American Family Radio, and daily on the Bott Radio Network.