South Carolina to Nullify Obamacare

The South Carolina House of Representatives passed a “Freedom of Health Care Protection Act, which says States created the federal government with limited powers. The bill declares that the U.S. Supreme Court, in creating a tax penalty for failure to buy health insurance, violated the Constitution by legislating new law -- a power limited to Congress and state legislatures.

The bill further says the Affordable Care Act interferes in state regulation of health care and exceeds Congress’ limited powers. And finally the bill prohibits enforcement of Obamacare, prohibiting any state agency or employee from enforcing the federal law. It specifically prohibits the establishment of Obama’s health insurance exchange anywhere in South Carolina.

“South Carolina Freedom of Health Care Protection Act,” (H 3101), South Carolina State Legislature, Introduced January 8, 2013 (passed the House 5/1/13).
