Burwell's No-Answer Answers

The integrity of Sylvia Mathews Burwell, likely the new Health and Human Services Secretary, is in doubt. She is good at providing no-answer answers. Here is her indecipherable response to a question about the legalities of Obama’s unilateral changes to Obamacare.

She said, “Senator, with regard to the implementation of such a large and complex thing…I think what’s important as one moves along and is implementing is listening and learning as you go, making those common-sense changes within the context of the law, and where there are changes that require legislative changes, to work with the Congress to do it. …”

Clearly, that answer did not answer the question of the legality of Obama’s actions.
