Obama Has a Plan B for Obamacare Ruling

The Obama administration claims they don’t have a Plan B if Obama loses the King vs. Burwell Obamacare premiums lawsuit. But they do. Republican Congressman Joe Pitts says he has learned of a 100-page Plan B.

According to Forbes magazine, Plan B will encourage states to “establish” a state exchange by declaring that they are subcontracting their management of an exchange to the federal government, thus using the federal exchange as their state exchange.

The law requires the IRS to only provide Obamacare subsidies through exchanges that are “established by the state.” Whether this sleight of hand would fly with Congress, Republicans, employers, lawyers and the American people is another story.
