Houston Doctor to Shut Down

Due to Obamacare, doctors are closing their doors. In Houston, Texas, Dr. Robert McWilliams will retire early closing his practice next February. The last time he paid himself a salary was in October 2010.

He’s been in practice 40 years, sees 5,000 patients each year and has lived off his savings for two years. He says medicine will be run by bureaucrats and politicians who have no idea what’s in the patient’s interest.

Now, here’s a reminder. Our special event with straight-talking U.S. Congressman Louie Gohmert is this coming Monday July 15 in Minneapolis. Call our office to register: 651-646-8935.
