Beware the Big Bad Blue Book

A government work group recently discussed a really big blue book. It was a thick book that looked legal size. It was held together by a huge silver coil and contained pages and pages of website specifications. The book was titled “A New Standard for Public and Private Health Insurance Enrollment.” It was developed by three federal agencies and 11 states -- and eight foundations funded it. It sets up a universal design for federally controlled exchanges. It will be used to build these state-based website portals for national health care, unless States say no. My photo of the big bad blue book is on our website. http://www.cchfreedom.org/issue.php/26
