Options to Avoid ACA Mandate

Lots of people are scared of the individual mandate which takes effect in January with penalties accessed per month of being uninsured. They are uninsured because insurance is too expensive today. And under Obamacare it’ll be even more expensive. They don’t want to enroll in government Exchange coverage either.

So what’s a law abiding citizen to do? They can go uninsured for a minimum penalty knowing that they’ll be able to get coverage when they get sick. Or they can enroll in a health sharing organization. There are three of them, all for Christians. They are far less expensive and way more personal. And they are exempt from the mandate. Think about it.