July 6, 2012

Mayoral Hypocrisy!

New York City’s Mayor Bloomberg wants to limit sugary drinks to 16 ounces at ball games. He’ll allow you to buy as many tiny cups of soda pop as you want, but it will be a major pain. And that’s the plan. If his regulation is not crushed by citizen protest, expect bags of chips and candy bars to soon be miniaturized.

Could donuts be limited? Not likely. The mayor participated in a national donut day promotion. So, sugary donuts are protected from restrictions but pop is not? Clearly, Mr. Bloomberg needs to go on a fast from the promotion of bad bureaucratic ideas.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.

The Health Freedom Minute is now heard in 37 states: Mornings M-Th at AM1280 (The Patriot) in MN and 91.5 AM WHKC (FreedomFM) in OH, afternoons on American Family Radio, and daily on the Bott Radio Network.