Massachusetts' Massive Mistake

What is Massachusetts thinking? RomneyCare socialized medicine, imposed an individual and employer mandate, and limited health plans. As a result, health care consumes 54% of the state budget and premiums for individual policies have risen 57% in five years.

Now the legislature has sent a bill to the Governor that limits how much doctors, hospitals and insurers can spend on treating patients each year. Any provider or insurer that exceeds the limit will have to submit a “performance improvement plan” to the state. Failure to implement the plan could lead to a fine of up to half a million dollars. That’s a really big reason to ration care.
