Mass Exodus of Doctors Expected

The government is putting physicians out of business. The VA wants to empower advanced practice nurses to do much of what physicians do to care for veterans, but without the same training. And the Medicare administration put out a payment rule that more than 30% of doctors say will drive them out of practice.

One former bureaucrat admitted that Medicare’s Merit-based incentive payment system will be “financial suicide” for small practices. The head of Medicare says doctors can avoid expected penalties by essentially giving up the private practice of medicine and practicing as managed care doctors instead.
