$805 Billion Less in Your Pocket

U.S. Senator Jim DeMint’s new report shows how President Obama has broken his promises on premiums. Obama promised family premiums would go down by $2,500 by the end of his first term. Instead of falling, the average family premium has increased almost $2,400 dollars. Thus the difference between the promise and the reality is $4,893 dollars.

Over four years, DeMint says families have paid around $12,000 dollars more and individuals have paid about $4,200 dollars more. Economy-wide this means there are $805 billion dollars less in American pockets. This is an empty promise with very expensive results!
