When Babies Become Living Body Parts

You’ve probably seen the videos of Planned Parenthood negotiating to sell body parts of aborted babies. But have you heard how they’re being used? According to WORLD magazine, researchers have transplanted “55 fully intact human fetal kidneys” into lab rats. These pre-born organs came from Planned Parenthood.

Ganogen, the biotech company doing the research, wants to learn how to grow baby organs large enough to transplant into adults who need organ donations. But only living organs can be transplanted, not dead ones. Would the mothers of these babies rethink their abortion decisions if they knew their baby’s kidneys were alive and well in lab rats?

“Pieces of children.” Jamie Dean, WORLD, August 22, 2015.
