You Can’t Pay Cash for Care

Due to federal entitlement laws and state laws on health plan contracts, if you’re on Medicare or Medicaid – or privately insured -- you cannot pay for care denied. Frank Lobb, a former manager at DuPont, struggled for 10 years against the health insurance industry that refused to let him pay for the care his wife needed.

After she died, he sued obtaining legal documents showing how health plan contracts legally allow rationing. He’s written a book, called “The Great Health Care Fraud.” Bioethicist Art Caplan recommended it for patient advocacy groups. Find out what Frank discovered, including another law that requires hospitals to give you care, but only if you ask right.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.

The Health Freedom Minute is now heard in 37 states: Mornings M-Th at AM1280 (The Patriot) in MN and 91.5 AM WHKC (FreedomFM) in OH, afternoons on American Family Radio, and daily on the Bott Radio Network.
