Obama Wants to Keep the Enrolled Enrolled

Government officials like to force themselves into your life by acting on your behalf without your consent. For instance, Obamacare allows employers to auto-enroll their employees into health insurance and then if you don’t like it, you must figure out how to opt out and then take time out of your busy life to do it.

President Obama now says everyone enrolled in Obamacare will be automatically re-enrolled without their consent. He will force the system on the people. But because Obamacare premium subsidies are tied to a moving target, everyone will still have to reenroll on their own if they want to avoid IRS clawbacks or higher premiums.

Obama doesn’t care, as long as it works to keep as many people as possible in Obamacare.
