September 8, 2016

Let's Let it Fail

Obamacare is a charade. Remember all the promises. Premiums were going to drop. If I liked my doctor I could keep my doctor. And if I liked my health plan, I could keep my health plan. The President also told us healthcare.gov would be as easy to use as Travelocity.

Now we learn that choices on healthcare.gov are dwindling. This year 300,000 people had only one plan to choose from. Next year, it’ll be 2.3 million people without a real choice. Five states already have only one plan available. And one county in Arizona may have no health insurance options at all. Obamacare is a house of cards. Let’s let it fail.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.