Cutting Medicare to Pay for ObamaCare

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase president of Citizens’ Council on Health Care.

Who will pay for the high cost of ObamaCare? You will—in loss of benefits.

New costs include children with pre-existing conditions. Thirty million newly insured. Preventive care with no cost-sharing allowed. Children under the age of 26 covered by their parent’s plans. And no lifetime or annual limits.

To pay for these, Robert Book at the Heritage Foundation says people will lose insurance benefits. As just one example, people in New York City will lose $6,000 in benefits. These people are low wage earners and Medicare recipients. In addition, 7.2 million seniors across the nation will lose their Medicare Advantage plans.

So much for the claim that seniors won’t lose benefits and that we all can keep our insurance if we like it.
