ObamaCare Influenced Election

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase president of Citizens’ Council on Health Care.

ObamaCare played a large part in Tuesday’s election. According to Politico, three of the five Democrats who supported the House bill but flipped to oppose the Senate bill lost their races. In addition, all five of the Democrats who opposed the House bill but flipped to support the Senate bill lost their races.

The two Democrats who campaigned on their pro-ObamaCare votes lost their races.

Ballots to opt-out of ObamaCare passed in Oklahoma and Arizona. Exit polls found health care as the second most important factor driving votes. Half of the voters across the country said that they want the law repealed. Several new governors oppose ObamaCare.

Thankfully, the health care debate did not end with the passage of ObamaCare. Expect sparks to fly over repeal legislation.
