Texas Selling Baby DNA

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase president of Citizens’ Council on Health Care.

Sometimes, government does something so unbelievable people think it can’t be true.

That is the story of Baby DNA – blood taken at birth from the heel of every newborn, shipped to state government, tested for genetic defects, and then claimed as government property. All without consent.

A week ago we learned that Texas health officials have been selling and trading the DNA of Texas babies with corporations in exchange for equipment.

Here in Minnesota, state health officials refuse to follow the state genetic privacy law which requires informed consent, and the Governor refuses to require his commissioner to comply. The DNA of nearly 1 million babies has been stored.

You can take your baby’s DNA out of the state warehouse. Go to www.itsmydna.org.
