Stimulating Science

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase president of Citizens' Council on Health Care.

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, the stimulus bill, became law in Feb 2009. How are the dollars being used?

According to The Wall Street Journal, the National Institutes of Health got $10 billion for research. The Institute has not only studied cancer and heart disease, they've used the funds to study whether female college students are more likely to engage in casual sex after drinking alcohol, the reasons why young men don't use condoms correctly, how methamphetamine enhances female rats' sexual behavior and obesity during adolescence.

How is reinvesting our hard-earned taxes into these studies going to lead to economic recovery?

Maybe they should study that question.
