Hackers with Conscience Steal 10 Million Medical Records

Just four weeks after President Obama first took office, he signed a bill that required every doctor and hospital to have an electronic health record (EHR), or lose money on every Medicare patient.

In January 2024, hackers took 10 million medical records from a hospital. They said that they “purposely didn’t encrypt” the data “so as not to interfere with patient care.” Usually, hackers shut down the record system, which shuts down the hospital.

Your medical data is not secure because Congress bowed to the agendas of hospital, data, and government interests, putting you at risk. Find a doctor that keeps your data safe. Check out the Wedge directory of doctors at JointheWedge.com.
