Illegal Immigrants Put Hospitals at Risk

Illegal immigration is hurting hospitals—and you. Most can't pay, and many end up in the ICU for 60 days or more. Some need dialysis or heart surgery. Newborns may need care for 30 days. One hospital in Arizona had “$26 million in unpaid medical bills in just 12 months.”

This means American patients wait longer to see a doctor. One health care worker said illegals are “bombarding” the health care system, bringing diseases from all over the world. California's new law to give free care to illegals is expected to cost $3 billion to $6 billion. This is taxpayer money. Thus, Americans are paying for the care of others while they're paying higher costs, and their own care is delayed.
