J.D. Vance is Highly Invested in Health Care

U.S. Senator J.D. Vance, a Republican from Ohio, is Trump's Vice President pick. J.D. opposes Medicare for illegal immigrants and while in law school at Yale, he blogged about the "bleak" state of the U.S. budget.

He wrote, "The party of...limited government – the Republican Party—is also the party of the aging white person. The party's only solid constituency thus depends on the Medicare and Social Security benefits that are the biggest roadblocks to any kind of real fiscal sanity."

JD has invested significantly in a long list of health care companies that include pharma, health data, and health tech. He's a venture capitalist who opposed COVID mask and vaccine mandates. If elected, we'll see what all this means.
