Health Plans Deny 850 Million Claims Each Year

Every year health plans deny about 850 million claims. Plans are under no obligation to cover your care. By law, they must pay out a certain percentage of money each year, but it doesn't have to be for you. It doesn't have to be for high-cost conditions. The more money spent on simple care, the less they must spend on expensive care. They don't have to cover the best doctor or the doctor you want. And if they deem the care you need to be medically unnecessary, they don't have to pay for it.

Consider switching to a health care sharing ministry, like Samaritan Ministries, which shares more than $32 million in medical costs each month. Then go to JoinTheWedge.com to find a direct-pay doctor who works for you.
